

EUROPEAN DISINTEGRATION IN PRACTICE

Security and Defence Cooperation
After the Brexit Referendum

PhD Dissertation 2020
Øyvind Svendsen

DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE
FACULTY OF SOCIAL SCIENCES
UNIVERSITY OF COPENHAGEN
PHD DISSERTATION 2020 · ISBN 978-87-7209-379-6

ØYVIND SVENDSEN

EUROPEAN DISINTEGRATION IN PRACTICE

Security and Defence Cooperation After the Brexit Referendum

EUROPEAN DISINTEGRATION IN PRACTICE

EUROPEAN DISINTEGRATION IN PRACTICE

Security and Defence Cooperation After the Brexit
Referendum

Øyvind Svendsen

PhD Dissertation

University of Copenhagen
The Faculty of Social Science
Department of Political Science

Supervisor: Rebecca Adler-Nissen
Submitted August 2020

PhD Dissertation 2020 © Øyvind Svendsen
ISBN 978-87-7209-379-6 (Printed book)
ISBN 978-87-7209-396-3 (E-book)
Printed by SL grafik, Frederiksberg, Denmark (slgrafik.dk)

Table of contents

Abstract.....	iv
Resumé (in Danish).....	v
Acknowledgements .....	vi
Declaration .....	viii
List of tables.....	ix
1 Introduction.....	1
Disintegration and the puzzling ‘orderliness’ of Brexit.....	3
A Brexit effect on European security and defence cooperation? .....	7
A practice approach to disintegration .....	10
Structure of the dissertation.....	12
2 Exploring Disintegration, or: Exposing the Limits of a Concept .....	17
Introduction .....	17
Disintegration in the state interest .....	18
Anarchy, power and disintegration .....	19
Integration theories in reverse: When state preferences shift .....	20
Differentiated (dis)integration .....	24
Disintegrating norms .....	27
An order in decay? .....	27
Disintegration and diplomacy.....	30
Degenerating norms and the increasing possibility of war .....	32
Disintegration as practice.....	33
Summary and reorientation.....	35
Conclusion.....	38
3 Theorising International Disintegration as Practice .....	41
Introduction .....	41
Disintegration as a social process of making.....	42
Practice and international disintegration.....	45
Practice as discourse and doings.....	45
Temporality and the making of disintegration .....	47
The European security and defence field.....	49
The dispositional problem in practice theory.....	51
Doxic futures.....	56
Doxic futures as models .....	59

Conclusion.....	59
4 Methodology, methods and analytical strategy .....	61
Introduction .....	61
Methodological grounding.....	62
Notes on case study research .....	65
The not so simple claim to doxa.....	68
Delimiting the European security and defence field .....	71
Doxic futures in expert discourse (chapter 5) .....	72
Doxic futures in European political discourse (chapter 6) .....	73
Analytical strategy .....	75
Doxic futures in diplomatic interaction (chapter 7).....	75
Interviews .....	77
Analytical strategy .....	77
Selection of sources.....	79
Conclusion.....	80
5 The epistemic struggle on security and defence disintegration.....	85
Introduction .....	85
Practical realism and the doxic function of geopolitical assessments.....	87
Brexit as a securitized phenomenon, or: disintegration as a driver of havoc .....	90
Drawing the boundaries for the potential EU-UK relationship .....	92
The ‘meaningless futures’ – from the fringes of the field .....	94
The process of disintegration and the emergence of the EU in security and defence .....	95
Conclusion.....	97
6 Future cooperation and the struggle to define a ‘third country’ .....	99
Introduction .....	99
Developments in EU Security and Defence after the Brexit Referendum.....	100
Doxic futures for EU defence cooperation .....	102
The military logic of European security and defence cooperation.....	103
The political logic of European security and defence cooperation .....	105
The economic logic of European security and defence cooperation .....	108
Brexit as a ‘third country problem’ .....	110
Enter struggle: Moving ahead or ‘muddling through’ for third countries? .....	111
(De)politicization of third country participation and EU affordances.....	112
Conclusion.....	115
7 The spectre of disintegration and diplomatic ‘saving practices’ .....	117
Introduction .....	117
A social fabric of European security and defence diplomacy? .....	118
Diplomats and temporal sensitivities .....	119
The ‘cooperative’ and ‘inclusive’ modus operandi of the PSC.....	121

A European embodied state of cooperation? .....	125
EU level doxic futures for security and defence in light of Brexit .....	129
The spectre of Brexit in the European security and defence field .....	132
‘A Europe buying together’ .....	132
The UK as a third country in EU defence.....	134
Conclusion.....	137
8 Conclusion .....	139
Introduction .....	139
Summarising doxic futures for security and defence cooperation .....	140
The limits of political struggle .....	143
Brexit, security, defence and the concept of disintegration .....	144
Doxic futures and the practice turn .....	144
...and yet the future remains uncertain .....	145
References .....	147